Amazing things happen when diverse communities work together to tackle world issues. When York University students apply their knowledge, they have the power to make things right.

A place where knowledge is made.

Whether exploring the past, interrogating the present, or creating the future, every day can present something new. Hopefully self-discoveries happen too. Once energised in your graduate studies, your perception becomes more acute. Judgement seeks out balance. Imagination bristles with creativity. Good ideas multiply into complex, analytical, original solutions. Across the master’s, doctoral, and postdoctoral levels of expertise, York graduate and postdoctoral fellows specialize in discerning the real issues, isolating the crucial problems, deconstructing the component pieces, and creating novel and truly necessary solutions.

Land Acknowledgment

York University recognizes that many Indigenous Nations have longstanding relationships with the territories upon which York University campuses are located that precede the establishment of York University. York University acknowledges its presence on the traditional territory of many Indigenous Nations. The area known as Tkaronto has been care taken by the Anishinabek Nation, the Haudenosaunee Confederacy, and the Huron-Wendat. It is now home to many First Nations, Inuit and Métis communities. We acknowledge the current treaty holders, the Missisaugas of the Credit First Nation. This territory is subject of the Dish with One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement to peacefully share and care for the Great Lakes region.
