Pursue Your Passions
Find the Career Path That’s Right for You

After completing your first two years of core business studies in either the BBA or iBBA program, you may choose to specialize in up to two areas of business.*

Choosing to specialize is not a degree requirement; students who wish to pursue more general business studies across years 3 and 4 are welcome to do so.

Typically, specializations require a minimum of 12.00 credits of upper-year courses completed within one functional area. Elective courses taken on an international exchange may be counted towards your specialization.

* Specializations offered subject to student demand. Upon graduation, specializations will not be listed on your diploma.

“I chose to do the Certificate in International Management because I wanted to gain a global business perspective. Knowledgeable professors, insightful guest speakers, and eye-opening site visits taught me the importance of international collaboration and the positive aspects of having free trade between international markets.”
